REWARD FOR HIS CONDUCT.

But the Gallant Soldier Has Been Dead Several Months.

The following special from Washington appeared in The Sunday Commercial Tribune:

WASHINGTON, February 10.—"The War Department is trying to locate Tilden Hughes, a trooper who served with the Sixth Cavalry during the Spanish War, and whose home is supposed to be in Portsmouth, O. Hughes was honorably discharged from the service and recently, as a reward for gallant conduct, has been awarded a certificate of merit which entitles him to an allowance of $2 per month.

"The Department forwarded the certificate to his late address in Portsmouth, but it was returned undelivered. Information as to his present whereabouts is earnestly desired."

CAME TOO LATE.

This tardy justice will be only a comfort to the friends of Tilden Hughes, says The Portsmouth Blade, for the snows have drifted all winter over his grave near Vanceburg, Ky. He died from the effects of his hardships in the island of Cuba, where he led the desperate charge up San Juan hill on that terrible day in July, when the Stars and Stripes were carried in the forefront of a flood of fire, an irresistible wave of knightly valor that swept all before it.

Hughes left here in trouble. There is no doubt that he was sufficiently punished, and more than punished, for any error he may have committed, by his voluntary exile from the home of his childhood, and his service in the army fully evened the score. There was no effort made to call him to an accounting. His property had paid all financial loss and the disposition to give him another start in life was universal. Fever and the results of that day in Cuba bore him down and he fought a losing fight with death. The wheels of Government like the mills of the gods, turn slowly. They turn surely, it seems, but it seems pitiful that the dead soldier could not have known that his services for his country were recognized.

The Regiment to which Hughes was attached was near the famous Rough Riders in the advance up the hill. The Major of the Regiment started on the run to get ahead of the Rough Riders, but was shot down. Hughes carried his officer to a trench near by where there was shelter. The Major was a larger man than he, and his back was terribly strained. Later he took both the yellow fever and typhoid. He was brought to New York as incurably disabled, and died at his home at St. Paul, Ky., on April 24th, 1898. His remains were interred at Black Oak Bottoms.

He was brought up and educated by Mrs. Fryer of this city.

On his arrival at New York he fainted and fell on the street. Some one, who it was he never knew, had him removed to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, the finest in the city, and paid for his care there until he was able to be removed to Ft. Thomas, Ky.

Are you nervous, run down, weak and dispirited? Take a few doses of Herbine. It will infuse new energy, new life into the exhausted nerves, the overworked brain or muscular system, and put a new face on life and business. Price, 50 cents. J. Jas. Wood & Son.

WILL THE BULLETIN ANSWER?

MAYSVILLE, KY., Feb. 14, 1900.

Editor Ledger, Maysville, Ky.—Dear Tom: Speaking of ignoramuses, when did the Governor of Kentucky get to giving bond? And when did it become necessary for the Legislature to authorize or legalize a suit against a public officer for misappropriation of public funds? And why should the Governor be sued for the act of the Auditor and Treasurer?

Please don't give this up. Yours,

ELLEN N.

The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. C. D. Glass, an employee of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drugstore of Mr. Houlahan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I get a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by J. Jas. Wood & Son.

A HANDSOME ESTATE.

Maysville Parties to Receive a Portion of a Montana Legacy.

The Bourbon News says Mrs. Omar Lytle of East Paris has received word from an attorney that she will receive quite a neat sum of money from an estate which has been reclaimed in Montana.

A recent decision of the Court sustains the claim of seven heirs for $50,000 from the estate.

One of the heirs gets $25,000 and the remainder is to be divided equally.

All of the heirs except Mrs. Lytle, who was formerly Miss Lou Scudder, live in this city.

A Convincing Answer.

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's Drugstore one evening," says Wesley Nelson of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine, as they all failed. He said: 'Well, if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by J. Jas. Wood & Son.

THE HOWARD-DORSET CO.

The Howard-Dorset Company which opens a three night's engagement Thursday evening comes recommended as one of the best repertoire companies on the road. New specialties are introduced between the acts, thus making a continuous show. Their opening bill is the strong five-act comedy drama "For Love's Sake."

Seats are going rapidly, so, ladies, avail yourself of the ladies' free ticket for the opening night. One lady admitted free if accompanied by a paid 80 cent ticket.

Frequent Coughing.

Inflames the lungs. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the coughing and heals the lungs. The ordinary cough medicines which are simply expectorants, will not do this as they keep the lungs irritated in throwing off the phlegm. J. Jas. Wood & Son and Armstrong & Co.

Frost Bites and Chilblains.

Quickly cured by Banner Balm, the most healing remedy in the world. J. Jas. Wood & Son and Armstrong & Co.

Jacob Laubley, brother of August Laubley of Carlisle, died Sunday at Portsmouth.

Mr. Robert Schlitz, formerly of this city, is reported very ill at his home at Portsmouth.

You can help any one whom you find suffering from inflamed throat; laryngeal trouble, bronchitis, coughs, colds, etc., by advising the use of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, the great remedy for coughs and colds. Price, 25 and 50 cents. J. Jas. Wood & Son.

John W. Keller, formerly of Paris, who is now Commissioner of Charities in New York and is also President of the New York Democratic Club, is being quietly boomed by his New York friends for Vice-President on the ticket with Mr. Bryan.

W. L. Yancy, Paducah, Ky., writes: "I had a severe case of kidney disease and three of the best physicians in southern Kentucky treated me without success. I was induced to try Foley's Kidney Cure. The first bottle gave immediate relief and three bottles cured me permanently. I gladly recommend this wonderful remedy." J. Jas. Wood & Son and Armstrong & Co.

Miss Mamie Sauvary will entertain at her home on East Second street this evening with a Valentine Social.

Mrs. Charles Duke Pearce received yesterday in honor of her charming visitors, the Misses Pether, of Louisville.
